Overall Comments: Our group worked really well together. We divided up the work, but also worked together for most of it. When I discuss individuals' contributions, it is only what their main work on the project centered around, since we all did help with all aspects. Most of the project got done when the four of us were all meeting together, so there was a lot of discussion at each step. I also want to mention that I might have missed some important contributions of my group members, especially with regards to the writing. We were all writing the report at the same time and editing each others' writing, so it's hard for me to attribute specific sections to specific people.

two of us were the main people typing the code (although again, all group members gave input, suggestions, and analysis).

Notes and Comments for Person 2 (Satchel): Satchel was instrumental in putting together both the report and poster. She did a lot of the writing of the results section in the write-up as well as most of the text on the poster.

Notes and Comments for Person 3 (Justin): Justin was essential to our group. He did all of the data cleaning, and he also did the coding for formatting each of the figures as well as helped put together the poster.
